

Montana Oil and Gas Industry Outlook

Dustin de Yong¹

Abstract

This update from Montana will review crude oil and natural gas production data, refinery expansions, and pipeline updates.

¹Montana Department of Commerce

Dustin de Yong has been working on energy policy and development for the State of Montana for nine years. During his tenure, the state has experienced the Bakken boom, record state coal production, significant wind generation growth and development of the first international merchant electric transmission line in North America. The state continues to responsibly develop its diverse and rich portfolio of energy resources.
